INTRODUCTION...

The Texas Society of Plastic Surgeons (TSPS) is hosting the first annual TSPS BOOT CAMP '25 to be held at The University of Texas Health Science Center Houston - School of Medicine, August 15-17, 2025.

EVENT PROFILE

TSPS is excited to launch its inaugural Boot Camp '25 program at The UT Houston School of Medicine in collaboration with the American Society of Plastic Surgery (ASPS) and with support from Plastic Surgery programs and faculty across the state.

The initial program was actually created by ASPS in 2018 to address evolving trends in graduate medical education. The TSPS Boot Camp program aims to aid the transition of Integrated and Independent residents into Plastic Surgery training by offering standardized exposure to crucial clinical content. The program is designed to ensure accountability in trainee education and to stay at the forefront of adult surgical education.

This new event will also build community and mentorship among the next generation of plastic surgeons, featuring distinguished academic leaders—including program directors and chairs—who are committed to fostering meaningful connections. While this is the first time the program is being held in Texas, we are hopeful it will be as impactful and well-received as it has been in other regions.

LOCATION PROFILE

Boot Camp '25 labs will be held at The UT Health Science Center Houston, and is one of the largest, most comprehensive training facilities for surgeons in the world, equipped with the latest surgical and medical technologies. UT Houston School of Medicine strives to improve and expand surgical options using emerging technology, and to disseminate knowledge to future and practicing clinicians.

ATTENDEES

TSPS Boot Camp '25 will be attended by approximately 20 residents with 10-12 faculty leaders from various programs across Texas.

OBJECTIVES

TSPS Boot Camp '25 aims to offer standardized and timely exposure to crucial clinical content in Plastic Surgery, ensuring accountability for the comprehensive education of our trainees and maintaining leadership in adult surgical education. Its primary objective is to facilitate the seamless transition of both Integrated and Independent residents into Plastic Surgery training.

PROGRAM DETAILS

TSPS Boot Camp '25 will be held August 15 - 17, 2025 at UT Houston School of Medicine.

Friday will host a welcome reception and dinner. Saturday will be a full-day of education and an evening dinner off-site. And Sunday will wrap up after a half-day program.

TSPS Boot Camp '25 offers breakout sessions in topics at the forefront of plastic surgery. Residents experience a wide variety of clinical areas including wound healing, burn management, cleft and craniofacial reconstruction, and microsurgery. Additionally, residents are introduced to aesthetic procedures such as botulinum toxin injections, filler injections, and breast implant options.

Attendees walk away from this program with the foundational knowledge required to pursue more specialized facets of plastic surgery. This event will lead to improved quality of care provided to patients as we endeavor to provide the best possible surgical training for residents.

FACULTY

Prominent academic faculty from across Texas are invited to lead TSPS Boot Camp '25. These distinguished faculty surgeons are comprised of Residency Program Directors, as well as Department Chairs and Division Chiefs - each genuinely engaged in providing the best possible training for the next generation of plastic and reconstructive surgeons. The level of commitment and experience the faculty bring to this program is obvious to all attendees. Residents will have the opportunity to learn in a state-of-the-art microsurgery lab with expert faculty, which is a truly unique component of TSPS Boot Camp '25!
